POOR FARM KEEPER NAMED

WILL THOMPSON SELECTED
AS ONE TO HAVE CHARGE OF INSTITUTION.

COMMITTEE DIRECTED
ABOUT FURNISHINGS

JUDGE LIGHTFOOT TO HAVE SUPERVISION OF POOR
FARM KEEPER.

Fiscal Court Passed Until Next Session the Question of Supplementing Judge's Salary.

Much of the time was taken up yesterday by the Fiscal court in considering questions pertaining to the new county poor farm, now under course of construction, four miles from this city. The first thing was to elect a keeper of the poor farm, and William Thompson was selected for a term of two years, to succeed Keeper Robert Wilkins, who now has charge of the old farm, but who was not a candidate for reelection. It was decided that the keeper hereafter shall receive as his pay, $2.40 per week for each inmate he cares for at the institution. County Attorney Barkley and Justices Bleich and Young were selected as a committee to draft rules and regulations governing the poor farm. Supervisor Bert Johnson, of the county roads, was empowered to build a stable at the poor farm, and also a building in which is to be housed the county road machinery. The court allowed the Poor Farm Committee $3 per day for each day the committeemen were busy looking after the new poor farm building work. The magistrates on the committee, and number of days they worked, were Justice Knott, 5 days; Justice Broadfoot, 14 days; Bleich 14 days; Judge Lightfoot, and Justices Emery, Broadfoot and Bleich were selected as the committee to arrange for furnishing the new poor farm, while it was ordered that $1,000 be borrowed to meet the expenses incurred by erecting the new structure. It was decided that hereafter the keeper of the poor farm will be under the order of Judge Lightfoot, who is empowered to suspend or discharge the keeper for failure to do his duty, the discharge or suspension being subject to confirmation by the entire Fiscal court.

Justice John Burnett was elected county commissioner, his salary to be $200 per year.

The county treasurer made a report of the sinking fund. April and there was a balance in the fund of $78,111.58, while from that date until October, and only $632.45 had been paid into the fund. Enough was spent during that time to bring the present balance down to $77,167.16.

The road and bridge fund showed a balance on hand April 2nd, of $1,594.45, while since then $22,128.57 has been spent; and then enough paid into the fund, to leave a present balance of $1,925.32.

April and there was a balance of $6,816.92 in the county levy fund. Since then $15,640.72 has been spent, and enough paid in to leave an overdraft of $2,754.54 now due the treasurer.

All these reports were filed. The road committee was allowed $3 each for inspecting the new bridge built near Thompson's Mill in the county.

Jake Biederman was allowed $154.44 due him.

A note of $5,234 was ordered charged up to the road and bridge fund.

During this session there was brought up the question of the fiscal court supplementing the yearly salary of Circuit Judge W. M. Reed who receives $3,000 annually. The last state legislature adopted a bill permitting the fiscal court, or county authorities, to pay the circuit judges whatever the fiscal officers deemed advisable out of the county treasury, supplemental to the regular salary allowed the judge out of the state treasury. There was talk of the county adding $2,000 per year to the $3,000 regular salary of Judge Reed, but the fiscal body passed the question until the next term of court, which meets in January.

INTEREST WERE PULLED OFF

ENTIRE PROGRAM OF LAST EVENING WILL BE REPEAT-

This Evening Will Take the Place of the Opening Night, if Good Weather Prevails.

Despite the inclement weather a crowd of about 200 was at the baseball park to witness the events for the opening night of the horse show. The weather was so bad, though, that after a few events were pulled off, it was decided to postpone the entire program of last evening, until Saturday night, when each and every feature will again be produced. The grounds were very damp, but this was overcome by the heaps of sawdust spread upon top of it. It was deemed advisable not to pull off any of the events except four.

For the best gaited horse James M. Lang got the prize of $5, while Mr. Robert B. Phillips took the $5 for the best roadster. Mr. James Utterback and Mrs. George Flournoy received first prize for the best riding couple, while Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rudy received the second. Mr. Ben Frank's horse was decided the best pacer, and captured the trophy. These prizes awarded were of a supplemental nature, as Saturday evening all of these events, together with those not pulled off, will be had over again.

No admission was charged to those attending last evening, and the attractions took the simple form of exhibitions, just to amuse those there, while the fine band gave a delightful concert.

Caught Twelve Cows.

Anyone would have thought Lycurgus Rice, the city's official cow catcher, was in the wholesale stock business on noticing him yesterday morning driving a long string of cattle down the public streets of the city. He had not entered the stock business, but had just caught a whole herd of cows out on West Jefferson street, rambling around upon the thoroughfare, and drove them to the city pound. There were twelve in the bunch, and all belonged to Dairyman D. R. Smalley who lives on the old Trimble place in Arcadia. He had turned the cows out yesterday morning in the country, and they strolled into the city, where they were found by Catcher Rice. Smalley had to pay $12 to get them out. He was fighting mad, and said everybody who bought milk from him today would pay 30 cents a gallon to make up for the money he had to pay out to recover his bovines.

BALLINGER BANKRUPTCY
CASE COMES UP TODAY

BANK OF HAZEL FILED SUIT AGAINST W. B. SMITH FOR $3,150 ON NOTE.

Judge Reed Sued Mrs. Fannie Kahn and Children for Lawyer's Fee of $200 Claimed Due.

Assignee R. J. Barber of the E. Rehkopf Saddlery company yesterday stated that no defense would be made today at Louisville in the United States court, at which time the question of forcing the Rehkopf concern into bankruptcy comes up. The petition to compel that firm to enter into bankruptcy was filed by three of the creditors, to one of whom is owing about $15, while to another the debt is about $250, and to the third about $9,000. The action to force them into bankruptcy was filed last week and set for trial today by Judge Cochran in the Falls City. The failure of the firm to offer resistance means the judge will order the concern into bankruptcy.

Yesterday in the county court here Lawyer Campbell was allowed a fee of $1,000 for serving as attorney for the Rehkopf firm, and also for Assignee Richard Barber. The assignee put in his bill in the county court for $635 claimed due for services in his position.

WAS PADUCAH GIRL DRUGGED?

MISS ENOLA OLIVER CLAIMS
YOUNG MAN HAD HER
DRUGGED.

SUFFERED A LAPSE
OF HER MEMORY

DOES NOT REMEMBER ANY-THING BETWEEN DRINK
AND TIME SHE AWOKE.

Until Several Weeks Ago the Sisters
Resided With Their Uncle, Mr.
John Oliver of Paducah.

Word has been received in this city by relatives of an unusual experience encountered last Saturday at Louisville by Miss Enola Oliver, who until several weeks ago resided with her uncle, Mr. John R. Oliver, the well known carpenter of 1106 South Third street. She has many friends in this city who are pleased she escaped with nothing more than a lapse of memory for some hours.

She claims to have been drugged by a young man friend, while the physicians think her condition was due to fright.

The Louisville Courier-Journal in speaking of the affair states as follows:

Her mind a blank, probably due to the effect of a drug which she believes was slipped into a glass containing soda water which she later drank, Miss Enola Oliver, as pretty eighteen-year-old country girl, staggered into the restaurant, 1145 West Market street, over which she and her sister have rooms, late Saturday afternoon, and sank unconscious on the bed. Her purse, which had contained $4.75, her week's earnings, was empty, and the belief is that she was robbed. The police were notified of the case yesterday, and began an investigation. Miss Oliver was still too weak to leave her bed yesterday afternoon, but was able to tell what she knew of her experience.

"I can't tell all that happened," she said, "as my mind was a blank from 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon until I finally came to myself and found that I was occupying the bed in my own room. A physician was seated near me and my sister was standing at the footboard. I am employed at the candy factory of Bradas & Ghens, on Fifth street," continued Miss Oliver. "I quit work at noon Saturday and went home. After dinner I gathered up some clothing for the laundry and again went uptown. I left my clothes at the laundry office and from there visited the candy factory, where I drew $4.75 for my week's work."

Drank Soda Water.

"As I stepped from the door of the candy factory onto the street, I met a young man I have known for some time. He told me he was going to leave that afternoon for Cincinnati, and wanted me to accompany him. Of course, I refused, and then he attempted to frighten me by making threats of what he would do. He finally suggested that we drink a glass of soda water, and I accompanied him into a drug store. From that time until I found myself in my own bed at home I haven't the slightest memory of what occurred."

Miss May Oliver, the fifteen-year-old sister of Miss Enola Oliver, said yesterday afternoon that until a few weeks ago, she and her sister lived with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver, at Paducah, Ky.

"Our parents are dead, and feeling that we should not longer impose upon our uncle and aunt we left Paducah and went to Shelbyville," she said. "We failed to secure steady employment there, and later went to New Albany, Ind. We remained there but a few days when sister secured employment at the candy factory in Louisville, and we came over here to live. I am employed in the restaurant here, and we felt that we were beginning to prosper."

Drug Theory Disbelieved.

Dr. J. C. Mitchell, who has an office at 1124 West Market street, and who was called in to attend Miss Oliver after she sank unconscious on a couch in the rear of the restaurant, said yesterday afternoon that he attributed the young girl's condition to the time he examined her to fright. He was asked if he thought she had been drugged, and replied in the negative. He

NEARLY A RACE RIOT

SIMILAR TO THAT OF ATLANTA'S STARTED AT MOBILE
YESTERDAY.

ONE MAN FATALLY
SHOT, ALDERMAN WOUNDED

MOB AFTER YOUNG NEGRO
WHO ATTACKED 12-YEAR-OLD GIRL.

Another Mob Formed to Attack Negroes in a Theater, But Did Not Do So.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 3.—Roy Hoyle, a special officer of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and one of the most widely known and best liked men in this vicinity, was fatally shot, and Alderman Sidney Lyons, chairman of the city council of Mobile, was slightly wounded in the hand last night during a fight at the county jail between deputy sheriffs and a crowd of men, determined to capture Dick Robinson, a young negro.

The mob is still hunting the negro and will lynch him if captured. The negro, who is only seventeen years of age, and was said to be wearing his first pair of long trousers, attacked Ruth, the twelve-year-old daughter of Blount Sossaman, who lives three miles from here.

He was taken before the Sossaman girl, who at once identified him. Deputy Sheriff Patch, knowing that the life of the negro would be taken by a mob if he brought him into this city, caused him to be conveyed to a station several miles up to Mobile and Ohio railroad. He was not taken to the jail at all, and was at least eight miles from the city when the mob which, determined to have him, approached the building. There have been several assaults upon white women in the last few weeks, and the news of this latest outrage caused intense wrath and excitement.

Sheriff Powers met the leaders of the mob and informed them that the man they were seeking was not in the jail and had never been brought there. He offered to let anybody whom he personally knew pass through the jail to satisfy the crowd of the truth of his statement.

About forty men walked through the corridors, and some of them returned and assured the members of the mob that the man was not there. While several men, including Hoyle and Lyons, were still in the jail, a portion of the crowd, led by a tall, raw-boned man, whose name is not known, seized a telephone pole which had been blown down in the recent storm, and dashed it against the closed part of a double door, one half of which was open.

The door fell with a crash, and almost instantly a shot came from a revolver in the hands of a man standing in the gate. Then came a fusillade. Not more than a dozen men took part in the firing, and as said he could not discover that she had sustained any injury.

The police are looking for the young man who the girl claims, was with her last.

ROOSEVELT AND CABINET SPLIT ON CUBAN QUESTION

Washington, Oct. 3.—Persistent rumors in Washington declare that leaders of congress have been sounded on the question of an extra session on account of the Cuban crisis. It is explained that, while under the Platt amendment the president has power to intervene in Cuba, there is uncertainty how far he may go in the matter of expense, etc., in carrying on anything like warfare in the island.

It is said that the transports alone chartered to transport troops in Cuba are costing $10,000 a day, and other extraordinary expenses are very large. The idea that the campaign in Cuba will be short is not generally entertained. Rather the adventure is expected to last a long time and cost many millions.

Therefore, to get the congress committed to the idea at the outset would be good politics. To this end congress, it is alleged by members who have been in the city recently is likely to be called together very soon in order to secure from it some approval of the course the Administration has taken.

Roosevelt Relies on Root.

Secretary Root, who returned from South America yesterday, will be close to Mr. Roosevelt's ear to urge or to dissuade. Beginning today Root may be regarded as the dominating factor in the Cuban situation. Up to this time Taft has held the key and the president has looked to him for guidance and advice but now in all probability it will be found he will turn to Root. Bonaparte is here, too; also Moody of the department of justice, and Wilson of the department of agriculture. On the judgment of one and all the president wisely depends, but nothing is more apparent than that at this juncture Root stands out preeminent. For this reason his probable attitude toward Cuba becomes of first importance.

There is the best authority for saying that Root will be for the adoption and steady pursuit of a conservative course toward the islanders. The friends here who have been closest to him and who have talked with him since he returned to Washington yesterday, asserted this with every evidence of good faith today. He will not listen to any suggestions looking to the annexation of Cuba until every possible recourse has been attempted and has failed.

Wants Make Good Impression.

The Secretary of State is quoted as holding to the opinion that the whole of our relations with the Latin-American republics depends on our attitude at this time with respect to Cuba. He believes that never were the prospects for the unification of them and ourselves, in spirit at least, so bright as at this moment.

He speaks by the book, too, for he is fresh from these South American countries, where he heard from the lips of their foremost citizens their hopes and aspirations. He does not want the cup to be dashed to the ground by any ill considered act to Cuba, and he will not give his sanction to any course having this in view.

The trend in administration circles is all other way. The high officials in the last few weeks have almost flatly said that intervention in force by the United States would be but a forerunner to annexation, whether further argument was furnished for such a course by the Cubans themselves or not.

President for Annexation.

President Roosevelt himself, it has been broadly hinted, had taken note of this prevailing sentiment with no private expression of dissatisfaction, so that the observer of events was fully warranted in assuming that annexation for Cuba seemed to be fore-ordained.

With Root in arena, stripped and girded for the fray, in defense of Cuba Libre, the outlook takes on a somewhat different tinge. He is the one man in the cabinet—there may be others, but as to him there is no doubt—for whose opinions the president entertains such a wholesome respect and who presses them upon him with such quiet but tenacious courage that seldom, if ever, they are ridden down.

The spectacle of Root battling for Cuban independence against the pressure for annexation that will unquestionably be brought to bear from every quarter of the country as soon as congress shall have assembled in December will be worth traveling some distance to see.

Plain Talk.

(Owensboro Inquirer.)

In his letter to Mr. Hamilton, of Knoxville, Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, says:

"The saloon, by its insolence its arrogance, its persistent lawlessness, has forced the issue upon the people and the people must meet it. It refuses to be reformed; it must therefore be destroyed. It has proclaimed by its conduct that it had rather die than obey the law. In doing so, it has left but one course for self-respecting and law-respecting people. The whisky shop must go."

Senator Carmack is plain in his utterances on this question and his language cannot be misunderstood.

The activity of the saloon in Tennessee politics and the open defiance of the law by the Tennessee saloon afforded Senator Carmack ample grounds for his remarks.

Whenever the farmers, organize for their mutual aid they are told to stay out of politics if they would succeed, and the advice is good; for there was never a farmers' organization yet which did not fail whenever it undertakes to mix politics with its business.

The church is continually being reminded if it would not go against a fatal breaker to stay out of politics. The admonition is a good one, because politics has reached so low a scale that the church which goes times are down to the political level must be so soiled as to destroy its usefulness as a church.

The labor organizations are told that if they would succeed they must stay out of politics.

But it has never dawned upon any very great number of people to tell the saloon that it must get out of politics and stay out. Of course, nobody could tell the saloon it must not enter politics, because it has been in politics ever since there has been any politics. It is the saloon domination of politics and the determination of the saloon not to obey the law that has brought about a fight against the saloon, and if the saloon does not become law-abiding and less active in dictating the nominees of the political parties, the saloon will be put out of business. There would not be an almost universal desire to suppress the saloon if the saloon would not be so arrogant and so defiant of the law, and be less officious in the affairs of state. The time is fast approaching when the people will put the saloon out of politics by putting it out of business, if the saloon does not mend its ways.

One of the amusing signs in Salem is that over a paint shop. It reads: "Open three times a day," with no cause politics has reached so low a scale that the church which goes times are

INSANITY MAY BE THE PLEA FOR THAW

HIS ATTORNEYS REFUSE TO SAY WHY ALIENISTS ARE EXAMINING HIM.

New York, Oct. 3.—Clifford W. Hartridge, counsel for Harry K. Thaw, declined today to say whether or not an application will be made to the courts for the appointment of a lunacy commission to examine Thaw. He was asked:

"Do you intend to make application for a board of lunacy in the Thaw case?"

Mr. Hartridge said no application for such a board had been made.

"Will you say that no such application will be made?" Mr. Hartridge was asked.

"I will not say whether it will or will not," the lawyer replied. "I am not divulging what my plans may be ahead of time."

"Will you say why it is that Mr. Thaw is submitting to almost daily visits from noted alienists if it is not to permit them to observe his mental deficiency and to testify as to it before a lunacy board later on?" was next asked.

To this Mr. Hartridge would make no reply. "I have absolutely nothing to say," he replied, "except that I have not and have never said that my defense would not be insanity."

It was said at the Tombs prison today that Thaw will be examined tomorrow by Dr. Charles G. Wagner, the alienist, and that he has consented to submit to the examination.

MADE CLERKS PAY.

Fine Specimen of Andrew Jackson's Writing Which Caused Settlement.

Fine letters of Andrew Jackson rarely come upon the market. While not so uncommon as letters of Zachary Taylor—the rarest name in the series of American presidents—they occur infrequently at public or private sale, and important specimens bring good prices.

An interesting example of the autograph of the hero of New Orleans is in the shape of an indorsement, written on the back of the following letter, addressed to him in 1833 by a merchant tailor:

"Washington, April 30, 1833.

"To the President of the United States.

"Sir, the Signer of this your Humble Servant begs leave of you to send an ear to the Statement of a Case of mine against a Clerk in the State Department.

"He came to my Store Nov. 26, 1831, and Got measured for a Suit of Clothes Amounting to $64.50, for which he promised to pay me in 60 days, and his haying the appearance of a Gentleman I took him to be one and let him have the articles on those terms.

"When the Sixty days expired I Sent to him and he promised Farther until 11 or 12 Months expired, and finding no other way of recovering my money I entered a Suit against him for which I received a Judgment after he entered the office when he took the Benefit of Insolvency, and having understood that your Highness had taken the Steps for the benefit of Mechanics & Others Citizens of this place by removing or otherwise Making the Clerks pay their Honest debts and finding no other way of recovering my money I take this Liberty of requesting this great favor and hope it will not be in vain as I have a large family depending on me for Support and Losing this would rob them of their dues. Respy Your Humble & Obedient Servant,

"CHRISTIAN ECKLOFF."

The letter seems to have aroused

Jackson's indignation, and his indorsement, bearing the same date, was as follows:

"Referred to the Sec. of State. If on inquiry the fact stated be true—unless the clerk pays up the debt, let him be forthwith discharged.

"The government would become a party to such swindling provided it permits its officers to become indebted for necessities and not see that they paid their debts out of their salaries.

"Honest men will pay their debts—dishonest must not be employed by the government.

Underneath this interesting indorsement is a postscript, also signed with Jackson's initials:

"This case is referred to Amos Kendall, Esqr., and on ten dollars per month being secured to Eckloff, Mr. — to be continued in his office.

A. J."

IS HE DEAD OR IN INSANE ASYLUM?

Claims He Is Named Kimmel, But His Relatives Say He Is Not the Person.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 2.—The trial of an insurance suit was begun today in the United States circuit court to determine whether George A. Kimmel, former president and cashier of the Farmer's State bank of Arkansas City, Kansas, is dead or is a maniac confined in the Mattewan asylum for the criminal insane in New York. The suit involves the payment of $5,000 life insurance.

The man in the Mattewan asylum claims he is Kimmel but Kimmel's relatives declare the man is not Kimmel, that Kimmel has not been heard of from since his mysterious disappearance Aug. 1, 1898 and that they believe him to be dead.

The suit was first filed in the state circuit court of St. Louis and was then transferred to the United States circuit court. The plaintiff is George R. Rankin, receiver for the First National bank of Niles, Mich. Action to recover the amount of life insurance involved was commenced March 22, 1904.

Louisville, Oct. 2.—The condition of the Rev. J. D. Walsh, formerly presiding elder of the Louisville district, of the Methodist Episcopal church, whose left foot was amputated at the Deaconess Hospital Saturday, was said to be greatly improved yesterday. At the recent Methodist conference at Green up Ky., Dr. Walsh was assigned to the pastorate of Shinkle's Chapel, in Covington.

THE MANAGER CAUGHT AND BLAMED I TON HIS STENO- NOGRAPHER.

But When She Said, "Nay, Nay, 'Tis Yours," He Fell in Love—Money and Creed Involved.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Arthur P. O'Brien son of Martin O'Brien, wealthy art collector, who owns a mansion at 197 Pine Grove avenue, exploded a romantic bomb in the North Shore society set today with the announcement that he had kicked over the parental traces run away and married Huldah Daniels, his pretty New York stenographer.

Danie Cupid is the arch Anarchist who constructed the bomb. A freckle faced messenger boy, with a head of hair like a dandelion gone to seed, set it off. Here is the bomb.

"New York.—Mother: We are married. Love us and forgive us. No knife can cut our love in two, for the tie that binds is a double knot. For the sake of your faith and that of Huldah's mother we were first married by a priest and then by a rabbi.

"Arthur P. O'Brien.

"Huldah Daniels O'Brien."

Only one serious injury has been reported as a result of this love explosion up to the present time. The victim is Arthur O'Brien's mother.

When she received the news that her son had married outside the Roman Catholic church she became prostrated and is now confined to her bed by grief.

Young Arthur O'Brien is now the New York manager for the American Luxfer Prism Company, which has its main office in Chicago. Walter Joseph O'Brien, his brother, is general manager of the cigarette department of the American Tobacco Company, with offices in New York. Walter created no small flurry in Chicago society several years ago when he married Katherine Heineman, daughter of the millionaire banker, William C. Heineman.

Hward, another brother, created a second flurry when he was quietly wedded to Katherine Maus, daughter of Frederick K. Maus, of 1888 Diversey boulevard.

It was up to Arthur to maintain the reputation of the family. Chewing gum helped do it.

Arthur was wearing all the dignity he could carry when he first took his seat at the managerial desk.

Arthur reached for the lid of his roll-top desk and got stuck on some unromantic gum.

Ten minutes later he romantically "got stuck" on the stenographer.

"What do you mean by chewing gum in office hours?" was the first thing Arthur said, as he dabbed at his stringy fingers.

The typewriter ceased.

"You are welcome to do with it whatever you please," said the silvery voice. "I don't use gum. I believe it is yours."

The typewriter intermezzo struck up again. Arthur gazed at the girl. Then he gazed at the gum.

For three years Huldah Daniels, stenographer, worked for Arthur O'Brien, manager, technically speaking.

When the Martin O'Brien, in Chicago, learned of the match they opposed it bitterly because of Miss Daniel's Jewish faith. When the parents of the girl learned that Danny Cupid had scheduled for her they objected because of young O'Brien's Catholic belief.

To square opposing beliefs two ceremonies have been performed—one Roman Catholic the other Jewish.

FEMALE COP

Gets Busy at Fair Grounds and Jails Sixteen Would-Be "Spongers."

Sixteen men came to grief today, while trying to steal their way into the Lafayette fair grounds to avoid paying the price of admission, says the Kewanee, Ill., correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

And what made their grief all the more bitter was that they were taken in charge by an Amazon police woman, who, despite their desperate struggles, marched them before a justice of the peace, who held them for trial.

The woman who caused all the trouble for the would-be "spongers" was Mrs. Elizabeth Hejns, who had been commissioned special police officer and provided with a star and a club.

Mrs. Hejns took her post inside the fair grounds long before the hour for opening this morning. She had not been on duty long before she spied a foot extend cautiously over the top of the board fence. She waited an instant and saw a limb and body follow. A man dropped lightly to the ground and looked around.

He got but one glance at the inside of the inclosure when a firm hand was laid upon his shoulder.

"You are under arrest," exclaimed a feminine voice, and the unlucky individual looked into a pair of piercing black eyes. Dropping his eyes slightly he beheld a bright star glittering on the breast of his captor.

"Oh, I guess not," he retorted, and he gave a twist and started to flee.

"No you don't!" exclaimed the woman, as she gave the prisoner a quick jerk that landed him on the broad of his back. "You are arrested, and I guess you'll come right along with me, so there, now."

The woman was right, and the young man was dragged to the office of the association, where he made arrangements for his trial tomorrow.

Fifteen other persons suffered similar fates during the day, and when the fair opens tomorrow it is not likely that any will try to gain entrance except through the gate where the quarters are collected.

"GOOD-BYE, DOLLIE, I MUST LEAVE YOU"

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Sweethearts who would have their soldier boys transferred to companies that are to remain behind yesterday caused consternation at Fort Sheridan. Joseph Zilka of Company "H" had already procured a license to wed Tillie Vance of Carpenter, Ill. Other girls called at the post only to hear:

Good-bye, Dollie, I must leave you. Though it breaks my heart to go; Something tells me I am needed.

At the front to fight to foe.

The song was not all a joke by any means. The sweetheart contingent would not have it that way.

Orders were issued yesterday for the troops to leave tomorrow morning in four special trains. The two battalions of the Twenty-seventh take two, the artillery one and the horses the fourth. Many laborers from Chicago came out yesterday to enlist.

BOY STRANGLED TO DEATH WHILE PLAYING WILD WEST

Zanesville, O., Oct. 3.—While some boys were playing "wild west" in the barn of Wm. Charnetsky Tuesday, his son Harry, aged twelve, tied to throw a lasso from a beam like the men he had seen in the show. The rope became entangled and the boy was strangled to death before help from his brothers from the house arrived.

INCORRECTLY QUOTED AS TO BIBLE

Bishop Williams Did Not Put Himself in Infidel Class.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 3.—Bishop Chas. D. Williams, of the Episcopal diocese of Michigan, today declared that he had been incorrectly quoted in the published report of his sermon Sunday to the Y. M. C. A. members, in which it was stated he said that the Bible as the word of God is the most prolific source of unbelief the church has to contend with.

"I am neither ultra conservative nor yet a Robert Ingersoll and I wish to emphatically deny the report," declared Bishop Williams. "I did say that a certain view of the Bible is a most prolific source of unbelief. To say that the Bible is the most prolific source of unbelief, I would be the rankest kind of a Robert Ingersoll. The Bible must be read thoughtfully and meditatively and a man with a conscience will find the word of God in it."

"This is the man that met me at State and Madison last evening," the girl testified, pointing toward Parker at the hearing. Parker denied the charges, but the court did not believe him.

Versailles, Ky., Oct. 3.—George H. Swaney, of this city, is the possessor of a "talking rooster," which, it is claimed, has all the experts of the government signal service "beaten a black" in foretelling the weather. The owner of this marvelous bird claims that certain peculiar sounds which it utters on occasions represent words which convey to a trained ear a distinct and reliable forecast of what the weather will be for twenty-four hours hence. The result of several remarkable tests made during the past two weeks, it is said, fully sustained the rooster's reputation.

SCORES OF DIVORCES

MAY BE INVALID

If Litigation Now Being Carried on in New York is Successful.

New York, Oct. 3.—The divorce litigation which was predicted to follow the discovery by Census Bureau investigators that probably one out of five of the divorces granted by the courts of New York county are invalid because the decrees never were filed, has been started in the supreme court. The suit just brought is expected to establish a precedent. Upon the issue of the action hangs, it is estimated, the validity of fully 2,500 divorces.

The case which is expected to establish a precedent was brought by Peter Albert Nilsson, a Fifth avenue fur expert. He married Miss Ella Frank ten years ago, eleven days after she was granted a divorce from Charles A. Frank. There is a memorandum in court showing that judgment was ordered for the wife, but the decree cannot be found. Whether the decree was filed and then lost in the clerk's office, or whether the lawyer neglected to file it, cannot be learned. Sufficient ground for annulling the marriage in the fact it cannot be found will be the contention of Nilsson. If this contention is upheld by the courts and it is likely to go to the highest, three children will be declared illegitimate. They are the offspring of Frank's second marriage. He is now living in Christiana. No children have been born to Mr. and Mrs. Nilsson.

The proceedings were instituted to determine the amount of inheritance tax due the state.

Fighting "Progress."

The corporation organ would have its readers to believe that any and every one who stands for the protection of the public against the greed of the traction company is opposed to seeing the city progress and move forward. Such is not the case. All that is asked is merely that the city be given a square deal. No one objects to seeing the traction company or any other public corporation branch out and enlarge the scope of its operations, but they do believe that the general council should exercise business prudence and embody into all such grants or franchises all reasonable provisions and restrictions for the protection of the interest of the public. In granting a twenty-year privilege, conditions of today must not be the sole consideration; the representatives of the people should look to the future as well. They should not be impressed with vague understandings, but see to it that all franchises are plain and explicit in its terms. If certain obligations are to be met either by the city or the traction company, do not leave those things to conjecture, but embody them into the franchise so that all may know and understand just what is expected. Corporation organs are pleased to call efforts for reasonable and explicit understandings as "fighting against progress." The fact of the business is that the average corporation is forever and eternally fighting against the public's interests and by fair and foul means endeavor to drive the representatives of the people to accept the terms which they lay down, and which has everything possible in their favor and no protection whatever afforded the city.

For years and years The Register and other friends of the people had to fight for transfers. The old company was always promising to give transfers, but would never fulfill its promises. Even when a new franchise was drawn up and transfers were agreed to, the corporation in having the ordinance copied deliberately omitted the provision calling for transfers, but fortunately it was discovered in time and made part of the franchise. When the time arrived for the transfers to be given the company fought against giving them until threats to take the matter into the courts were made.

It was the same way with the present company in regard to half fares for children. For a year or more it most flagrantly violated the terms of its franchise on this point, and The Register finally insisted that the company be forced to cease charging double fare for children, and it was only after the mayor had threatened drastic action, that the traction company ceased its unlawful acts and complied with its franchise.

We believe in treating the corporations fairly, and we also believe in the corporations treating the city fairly; and when they attempt to give the city anything but a square deal we believe that every citizen should engage in a fight against all such disreputable methods. The corporation organs may sneer at men who stand up for the rights of the people, and throw mud at them, but all such sheets are hired to fight the peoples interests, and they are not worthy of the respect of decent people. Their cowardly policy is for the entire people to surrender to a handful of franchise grabbers, and to let the corporation gang plant their heels upon the peoples necks and dictate to the city.

These same corporation organs make great pretensions to bring for progress of the city and we wish to ask all sensible people if a city will not progress more where everybody gets a square deal, than where the corporations dominate and control a city? By reason of the patrons of the traction company obtaining transfers and half fares for the children, the people are saved thousands of dollars each year and that money is used by the people in the enjoyment of other pleasures or necessities. The Register fought for these things and the people reap the benefits, and we now ask our readers to point to a single instance wherein the corporation organs have stood for the people or in any way enabled them to obtain the benefits of saving money in dealing with the corporations of Paducah. In every single instance they have opposed the people and fought for the corporations, and then have the impudence to undertake to malign those who do not follow their own cowardly course and kiss the hand that smites them.

The Traction Issue.

The Kentucky Traction company avowed its purpose to build a line to Nashville and called itself a trunk line in order to provide a subversive council an excuse for giving them a franchise through the city for nothing.

It still clings to the pretense that it is a trunk line, and is trying to grab new franchises for their streets for nothing.

This morning the Courier-Journal says the franchise asked by Mr. Newman is worth $150,000 and that he offers only $10,000.

Mr. Newman offers to bid $10,000. A higher bid will get it. If there is any doubt about that fact it ought to be made clear.

The Courier-Journal says: "The city has a right to charge any price it sees fit for a franchise providing for the operation of a street railway."

The city has no such right. It must, if it obey the constitution, fringed on this point by Col. B. H. Young—sell such a franchise to the highest bidder.

It is worth $150,000 surely no mayor will sign an ordinance giving for nothing it, or one like it, to that aggregation of franchise grabbers, the Kentucky Traction.

If the mayor cares to protect the city's interest he will veto the Kentucky Traction ordinance, sending the whole matter back to the general council.

Then an ordinance can be drawn, guarded carefully, attractive to investors and real railroad builders, and sell it at auction to the highest bidder. Less than this cannot be defended.

THUGS AT INDIANAPOLIS

SATURNALIA OF CRIME IN LAST FEW DAYS LAID TO THE REPUBLICANS.

Indianapolis Organization Dragging in Criminals to Have Effect in Election.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 3.—The brutal assault of a farmer's wife a short distance from the city limits; the cold-blooded murder of Patrolman Russell and the probably fatal shooting of Patrolman Pettibord by negro desperadoes, all within twenty-four hours' time, has brought the people of Indianapolis to grave consideration of the handling of the vicious element encouraged to come hereby the republican ring which has used them in controlling county and city politics.

The series of horrible crimes committed here by the negroes since Sunday afternoon has stirred the decent elements more deeply than they have been stirred for a long time. It is now realized with a sort of sickening feeling that Indianapolis certainly has been made a mecca for bad negroes and the city is reaping the whirlwind of the seed planted by the republican politicians.

The charge has been made for several years that the republicans were importing bad negroes here to help them on election day. This has been vigorously denied but not proven. Whether or not the negroes came here by invitation of the republican politicians who have used and supported them, it is now being generally admitted that the race question has become very serious and that a great difficulty confronts the local authorities who will be compelled to handle the situation.

Sheriff Edward Sourbier said today that Indianapolis is now the home of dozens of criminal negroes who have taken refuge here. Fugitives from justice are said to be numerous among the bad negro neighborhoods. The worst feature of the situation is that the number of criminal negroes is in creasing almost daily.

Decent negroes are greatly alarmed over the conditions which they declare are largely due to the inducements that have been held out from time to time by the republican leaders to bring negroes here to help carry the elections.

The republican poll probably shows that there are over 7,000 negro voters in Indianapolis right now. Realizing that the republican politicians are friendly to them a majority have become insolent and shiftless and daily are becoming a greater menace to the community.

It is said that on Indiana avenue—the negro's paradise here, that three-fourths of the negroes go heavily armed all the time. One of the negroes arrested for shooting Patrolman Pettibord had a big 38 revolver and improvised knucks besides a long bladed dagger.

As evidence of the temperment of the negro allies of the republican politicians, the story of the murder of Patrolman Russell is conclusive. The negro who shot him did so before an attempt was made to arrest him. He merely drew his gun and fired the deadly shots.

This element, however, is being loaded to now by the republican politicians and will be used by them to carry the county this fall. It is declared by the democrats that the republicans could not win here without the negroes whose numbers are now increasing with such alarming rapidity.

COLE'S HOT BLAST

Wonderful Heater and Fuel Saver

For Soft Coal, Lignite or Hard Coal

Cost of Stove Saved in Fuel

As you know one-half of soft coal is gas—the entire gas supply for many cities and towns being made from the same kind of soft coal you are using.

The extent of unburned gases in hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of a base burner when the extra oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas. Other stoves allow this gas, which is the best part of the coal, also a large part of the heat, to pass up the chimney. This waste will average from $10.00 to $50.00 a year for every family and millions of dollars in fuel are thus wasted annually.

The Original Cole's Hot Blast Stove

Saves All Wasted with Other Stoves

Cole's Original Hot Blast, by means of the Patented Hot Blast draft used in connection with other patented features, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal.

On account of the patented air tight and gas tight construction giving perfect control over the drafts, it also saves the heat usually wasted up the chimney.

$5.00 worth of hard coal, soft coal or lignite, or a $1.50 ton of slack or coal siftings is thus made to do the work of twice the amount of fuel in other stoves and the cost of the stove is more than saved in fuel each winter. $7.50 worth of slack will heat your house all winter, five tons at $1.50 a ton does the work.

Build only One Fire a Winter

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire keeps all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the hard coal or soft coal put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, kindling fires is dispensed with, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time.

Read the Guarantee. We are the exclusive agents for Cole's Original Hot Blast and sell it on the accompanying guarantee which cannot be made on any other heating stove in the world. If you want to save half your fuel bill and would enjoy the luxury of getting up in a warm house on cold winter mornings without kindling fires, buy Cole's Original Hot Blast now.

Avoid Imitations

Imitations of this Original Hot Blast are many. None of them has the absolutely air-tight and gas-tight construction throughout which Cole's Hot Blast has by reason of its numerous patents. A Patented Steel Collar connects the elbow draft to the stove draft door closes air-tight by its own weight. The guaranteed Smoke-proof Feed Door prevents smoke, dust or gas escaping when fuel is put in the stove.

Imitations soon open seams and cracks which spoil them for keeping fire and cause the gas half of the coal and much of the heat to escape up the chimney.

See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door of our stove. None genuine without it. Ask to see the patented dustless ash cover for removing ashes. Our method is the only clean way.

Your Credit Is Good at This Store

F. N. GARDNER, JR., and CO. 114-16 South Third St

Guarantee

We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.

We guarantee a uniform heat day and night with soft coal, slack, lignite, or hard coal.

We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning with the soft coal, slack or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.

We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner made with same heating surface.

We guarantee the feed door to be smoke-proof and that the stove will hold fire with soft coal, hard coal or slack thirty-six hours without attention.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good fuel.

GOVERNOR BECKHAM SPOKE AT KENTUCKY THEATRE

HON. HAL S. CORBETT, THE LEADING ATTORNEY, INTRODUCED CHIEF EXECUTIVE IN ONE OF HIS CHARACTERISTIC BRILLIANT SPEECHES—GOVERNOR SPOKE OVER AN HOUR PRESENTING HIS CLAIMS.

About 600 people were at The Kentucky last evening to hear the address delivered by Governor J. C. W. Beckham, who spoke in the interest of his candidacy for the United States senatorship, in opposition to the present senator, Hon. James B. McCreary. The chief executive of the state spoke for over an hour, and was applauded throughout his remarks.

The entire first floor of the playhouse was filled, while many were in the balcony. Mayor Yeiser presided over the gathering, and in a few words from the stage, introduced Hon. Hal S. Corbett, one of the state's most brilliant attorneys, and who was selected to introduce the governor. On the mayor finishing, Mr. Corbett stepped forward, and for about fifteen minutes made one of the most impressive and forceful talks ever listened to in this city. In his characteristic brilliancy, his eulogistic comments upon the governor were gems of thought and oratory, his speech being of such a high order that Governor Beckham, when he came forward to commence his address, highly complimented the brainy Paducah attorney by saying Mr. Corbett had nearly made the governor's speech.

Governor Beckham spoke for over an hour in presenting his candidacy for the high office of United States senator, and although his remarks were devoid of any flights into oratory, it was a sound, forceful presentation of his claims for the nomination. He went over his career, that of his administration, and compared it with the administration of Mr. McCreary who served this state four years as governor, going out of office in 1879. In upholding his assertions the governor referred often to documents of record, and quoted them.

Seated upon the stage with Attorney Corbett, were about twenty officials, attorneys and citizens. After the speaking the governor held an informal reception and shook hands with many people.

This morning he goes to Smithland to speak, tonight he addresses the people at Salem, Livingston county. From there he and Mr. Harry Tandy, one of his supporters, drive overland to Marion, Ky., where the chief executive speaks tomorrow.

Quite a number of out-of-town politicians were here to hear the address last night. Professor E. A. Gullion, of Henry county, the candidate for superintendent of public instruction, was here, but left this morning at 1:40 o'clock for Louisville. He comes back next Monday in the interest of his candidacy.

much slushy mud, instead of gravel, around its new tracks, and orders were issued for them to discontinue this objectionable practice.

The board of works has refused to let the street cleaning department work on Sunday, and now in order that the market house refuse and cleanings shall not lay from closing time Saturday night until Monday morning, orders were issued for the street department to work a man late Saturday night to carry away the sweepings of the market.

The contractors were ordered to remove some old stumps and refuse from Dr. Caldwell's property on West Jefferson, where it was thrown while street work was going on.

A number of applications are being held in abeyance until the board gets framed its regulations governing hanging of signs.

The board issued another order to the independent telephone company to remove the big poles, standing in sidewalk at Fifth and Jefferson. The company was once before given this order, but claims it is not feasible to make the removal.

The board decided to make a tour of the city tomorrow afternoon in automobile, and select the intersections where the remainder of the 35 new street arc electric lights shall be hung.

There was referred to the council the request of Superintendent Kehler, of the city light plant, for five extra lights to be kept on hand at the plant for use in case any of those in commission burned out.

The I. C. railroad was given permission to lay a pathway of cinders on Thirteenth street from Jackson to Adams so a good walkway can be had for the railroad employees traveling that thoroughfare.

To the council was referred the city solicitor's letter stating the ordinance was invalid providing for concrete sidewalks on Fourth from Norton to Husbands streets.

Lawrence Dallam wants a grade at Fountain avenue and Broadway, but the engineer informed the board it could not be given until there is acted on by the council the ordinances providing for improvement of Fountain avenue.

The general council got the board of works to cut down the street department force of workmen because all the money appropriated to that department for this year has been used up. Now Street Inspector Elliott reports to the board of works it is impossible to cut down the number of workmen, as the street cleaning and repair work has to go on. The board of works directed him to do as the council desires, and if the streets deteriorate into bad condition the council is responsible on account of not having allowed enough money for this work the first of this year, as requested by the board of works, which then realized the appropriation was not large enough.

Contractor Bridges has the contract to construct the new concrete culvert underneath the Caldwell street bridge near the Union depot. On putting supports under the bridge to hold it up while the culvert work went ahead, the timbers were not strong enough, and the bridge sank considerably. Now Bridges wants the city to pay for raising the bridge again, but the matter was referred to the engineer.

put 9 inches of gravel on the thoroughfare, as provided for in his contract, the city refused to accept the work. Now he and W. H. Rottgering make affidavit a full 9 inches has been spread, and they want the highway accepted. The board will inspect it tomorrow.

The members decided to wait until Contractor Bridges executes his bond for the new sanitary sewerage work before returning to Bridges the $350 he put up on bidding on the work.

Street Inspector Elliott was directed to lay some underground pipping at Twenty-third and Kentucky avenue, so the water can be drained off.

I. D. Wilcox was ordered to move back several feet of his iron fence projecting out over the public sidewalk at Sixth and Kentucky.

The street inspector was ordered to repair Kentucky avenue, Jefferson and Broadway, at the points where the brick streets meet the bitulithic improvement.

Orders were issued that no retail fruit dealer along Broadway shall let his fruit stands stand farther out on the public sidewalk than 2 feet from the building front.

Charles Jennings was ordered to have repaired by Saturday, some sewers on Jefferson behind the railroad hospital, or the board will do it at his cost. The defects were made in piping Harahan boulevard.

The board decided to receive and open bids next Wednesday, the propositions to be received from dealers desiring to furnish fuel for the city's light plant.

Street Inspector Elliott was directed to notify building contractors that if they did not clean their piles of rubbish and material off the Broadway sidewalks inside twenty-four hours after notified that they would be warranted.

A letter was directed to the council, asking that there be adopted an ordinance prohibiting anyone from hitching and letting a horse stand on the brick or bitulithic streets.

Contractors excavating on Washington street for the storm sewers haul the dirt to the South Fourth street fill being constructed beyond Norton street for 22 1-2 cents per load. The board wants some dirt taken to Caldwell street, and decided to give the contractors 30 cents per load to haul it there, on account of the length of the haul.

Superintendent Hill of the N. C. and St. L., was thanked for dirt he permitted the city street inspector to use.

The Independent Telephone Company and street car company were ordered to remove all poles they agreed to when permits were given by the board of works for erection of the poles.

In reconstructing The Palmer hotel the contractors are cutting away some of the city's concrete sidewalk and Engineer Washington was requested to look into the matter.

Not having met for nearly two weeks, the members of the board of works had a three hour's session yesterday afternoon at the city hall on account of much business having accumulated. There was in attendance President Wilhelm and Secretary Taylor, leaving member Langstaff the absentee.

The board decided that next Tuesday it would inspect the bitulithic improvement on Broadway from Fifth to Ninth. The following day they will inspect Sixth, Seventh and Ninth from Kentucky avenue to Jefferson street, bitulithic being along there also. The work is done, and the contractors want it examined, preparatory to the city receiving it.

The steam heating company was given permission to connect its pipes with the DuBois-Kolb building and I. D. Wilcox's home, while the street car company was empowered to take down many old poles over the city and put up new ones in their place.

In advertising its coming attractions The Kentucky theater sets portable billboards at Fifth and Broadway and at other points on the public sidewalks. As they obstruct the pavements, it was ordered the theater discontinue setting the boards on the pavements in way of the public.

The Pittsburgh coal company has a long pulley cable and electric motor at First and Washington, used to pull the coal wagons up the levee after they load at the barges in the river. As this motor and cable is in the way of the public street contractors working at First and Washington, the coal company was directed to get it out of the way for as long a period as necessary.

It was ordered that the city's light pole at Fourth and Kentucky avenue be moved out of the public's way, and Contractor Bridges be seen about replacing the concrete sidewalk that will have to be torn up.

The city owes the American Road Roller company $500 as a balance on the street roller. The company made an assignment, and the assignee agreed to square the debt for $250, which was accepted. He offered the board $100 for the old street roller, and this is being considered.

The street car company was directed to put in writing its request for permission to put new switches at Fourth and Broadway, and Third and Kentucky avenue.

PLATTS DENY DIVORCE STORY.

Senator and Wife Say Scandal Is a Lie From the Whole Cloth.

New York, Oct. 3.—Senator Thomas C. Platt, when asked concerning a published story that his wife, Mrs. Janeway Platt, was meditating divorce proceedings against him, sent his secretary out from his office in the United States Express building on lower Broadway to the reporters assembled in the outer offices with this message:

"Senator Platt says that the published account of his wife's determination to institute divorce proceedings is a string of lies. That is all."

Mrs. Platt said: "These stories about difficulties between myself and my husband are malicious lies."

Notwithstanding these denials, the papers reiterate the stories and insist that the divorce will be brought. It is said that the aged senator, fearing that his wife intended bringing suit for a divorce, decided away the greater part of his resources in order to preclude the possibility of being called upon to make a large settlement on her. It was also stated that Mrs. Platt has been acquainted with her husband's procedure for some time, and is at present striving to ward off the possible loss of a financial adjustment in her favor.

State of Arkansas Reaches Agreement with the Packing Trust.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—The state of Arkansas ended its first attack on Chicago packers Tuesday by making agreement with attorneys representing Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson Morris & Co. and the Cudahy Packing company in the suits brought by the state for violations of the anti-trust law. Representatives of the local packers refused to appear before Lyle D. Taylor, appointed commissioner of the Arkansas court, and hence the attorneys for the prosecution did the next best thing—they went to see the packers. On their return they reported that the case against the Hammond Packing company was the only one that would be prosecuted at the present time. Judgment will be given against that concern and then the case will be submitted to the Arkansas court, which has yet to pass on the act.

SLOW IN TALKING CLEAN CAMPAIGNS

Democrats of Spencer County Force the Republicans Into Holding a Meeting.

Rockport, Ind., Oct. 3.—The republicans of Spencer county who have been trying to run away from the clean campaign proposition have at last agreed to meet with the democrats and talk over the matter and it may be a moneyless campaign will be agreed upon for this fall.

When the democrats of Spencer county met in their nominating convention at Chrisney early last spring, they passed a strong resolution declaring against the use of money in the campaign and asked the republicans to join with them in the issue. The leaders of the G. O. P. showed no disposition to join hands with the democrats and on Sept. 17, County Chairman R. E. Roberts of the democratic county central committee sent a letter to R. C. Huff, the republican chairman, asking him to come to time. After a great deal of delay the republicans today agreed to meet with the democrats on Wednesday afternoon and talk over the matter. What the result of the meeting will be is a matter of conjecture.

It is understood the leaders of the republican party are opposed to the movement as they desire to use boodle in the election, but the rank and file of the party are in favor of it and the leaders are beginning to realize that if the party refuses to join with the democrats they will lose the county by a good big majority, hence, the decision at the last minute to hold a conference with the democratic leaders.

The people of Spencer county, regardless of politics, want to see a clean campaign conducted. The democrats are receiving praise on all sides for starting the movement.

NEW RULES.

For Handling Explosives Are Issued By the Pennsylvania.

New and stringent rules designed to minimize danger in the transportation of explosives have been adopted by the Pennsylvania. Under their enforcement explosives may be handled in a train for through movement. They must not be placed nearer to each other than five car lengths, and, if the length of the train permits, a car with explosives must not be within 15 cars of the engine or within 10 cars of the caboose.

Only cars in good condition and of not less than 60,000 pounds' capacity may be used to carry common black powder, fulminates and great-gun ammunition. Before a car may be loaded with explosives an agent or inspector must examine it and sign a "certificate of inspection of car containing explosives" upon the prescribed form, and this certificate must also be signed by the shipper if he loads the shipment.

Every car containing explosives must be marked in large letters on both sides and both ends, "Explosives, Handle Carefully—Keep Fire Away," and must also have on both sides the certificate of inspection.

Cars containing explosives will not be hauled in any train carrying passengers. Whenever a train stops, trainmen must examine all cars containing explosives. The cars at either end of the one containing explosives must not be loaded with oil, lumber or other inflammable material; with iron pipe or with other articles likely to break through the end of the car from rough handling.

Retiring Pastor Says Church People Rely Too Much on Faith.

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 3.—Rev. Orville L. Kiplinger, the most liberal minded minister in the city and one of the best known congregational clergymen in Indiana, scored his old congregation in his farewell sermon. He ceased to be the pastor of the Congregational church yesterday and in his final message told the church people that they were too prone to rely solely upon their faith in Christianity for success and declared that the church needed human brains and brawn, human plans and toil, human sacrifice and earthly money. Rev. Mr. Kiplinger resigned several months ago, but has not given out his future plans, although it is said that he will become minister of Austin Congregational church, Chicago, to succeed Rev. E. B. Chase, Osierized.

Mad Dog at Chicago Bites Six People In Running Fight of An Hour.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Six children were injured dangerously and dozens of persons attacked by a mad dog that ran for two miles yesterday in the residence district along Lake Shore drive. The dog terrorized the neighborhood for nearly an hour and was pursued by hundreds of men before it was killed by a policeman.

The DeCawae children were playing in their yard when the dog jumped among them, snapping right and left. The dog, a small white fox terrier, first attacked five-year-old Clara, the smallest of the trio, and the child was so badly bitten that she may die.

The dog next attacked Margaret Eberhart in front of her home. The child ran screaming into the house and her father came out to attack the animal with a club. The dog then ran to Pine Grove avenue, south to Wrightwood and Clark street, where the Waite Girl was attacked. Ethel Barcell was bitten next, near her home.

In an alley at Orchard street and Fullerton avenue the dog was hemmed in by the crowd and shot to death by Policeman Frank Oswald.

Household Hints For Fall

Handwork Predominates.

In draperies, hangings, etc., the most exquisite effects are shown, and much handwork is employed, but the richness gained—and charged for too, you may be sure—is of the dainty rather than the gorgeous variety.

For window draperies the staple laces, such as Brussels, Tambour and Irish point, continue their decorative mission for the windows of drawing room and reception room, and muslins of various degrees of fineness for bed room windows. "Stained glass curtain stuffs," sheer madras, with new art and floral designs, are more beautiful than ever this season. Opaline tints are wrought in flowers with watery green foliage on cross barred backgrounds, with most artistic effects, and there are exquisite shades of solid red, green and yellow, as well as of more delicate tones, to be found in the same kind of goods; these are used with heavier over draperies in plain goods of the same tone for the windows of libraries, music rooms and dining rooms.

For Chamber Windows.

Hand-made effects carry through the chamber draperies. Here the windows have ruffled, lace-trimmed curtains of net, and inner draperies of mercerized cotton taffeta with a dot on a finely corded ground, which are bordered with applied floral bands, cut in outline from flowered chintz or cretonne. The floral note sounds strongly in all housefittings here; in bedrooms very natural looking flowers are garlanded on wall, frieze and draperies, and in hall and library conventionalized flowers form the motif in wall and floor coverings.

Return of the Lambrequin.

One of the most notable of the season's fashions in draperies is the return of the lambrequin. Not pretensions like its predecessors of many years ago, not over eight inches deep and cut straight on the edges or with a shield in the center. They are made of cloth or silk, with a gimp of silk, same color, on the edges, or for bed rooms it may be of cretonne with cotton gimp in the shades of the floral design. With the return of the lambrequin comes the cornice, its inseparable accompaniment when it last appeared.

Hand-Made Curtains.

To return to lace curtains: The dependable sorts referred to—vary their designs in conformity with the seasons' vagaries in style. Just now it is the square motif and we find these old friends have assumed the new faces that fashion desires. It is in the novelty hand-made hangings, however, that greatest variety obtains, and their cost is less than might be supposed. Cluny, Flemish, Arabian, Marie Antoinette, Renaissance and Egyptian faces are employed, alone or in combination—applied to net or fine batiste.

The Flat Curtain.

The newest lace curtain effect is the flat single curtain without fullness, which hangs straight over the sash from top to sill. It has a more or less decorative design of insettings or applications of lace, hemstitchings, or a lattice design in lace brain; the same forming arabesques at the angles and over the lace that completes the edge. The lower edge is not necessarily straight, though it is always flat—not flounced as is the bonne femme curtain. These take the place of the sash curtain (which is somewhat out of date) and is always employed with inner draperies, either a pair of lace curtains or the heavier sorts such as brocade tapestry or velvet.

CROSSES OF HONOR FOR THE VETERANS

Bestowed at State Meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

London, Oct. 3.—The state meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy is being held at Pewee Valley today. The meetings are at the Confederate Home, where the Confederate veterans are acting as the hosts of the occasion.

Speeches will be made by Gen. W. H. Tyler, of Hichman, and William Rogers Clay, of Lexington. Members of all Confederate organizations will attend. Nineteen crosses of honor will be given, and Gen. Tyler will confer badges on inmates of the home who fought under Forrest.

THE TALE OF A TALE ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

BY EDITH M. WALLACE.

It started on the small sofa in the alcove beside the reading lamp, and there were only two people in the room. One of them stood on the hearth rug, with his back to the fire, looking down on the other as she sat, fingering the MS. on her lap.

"Why do you want to read it?" she asked.
"Because you wrote it," he answered, with great simplicity.
She frowned. "You ought to say, it's because my other stories have been so successful, and I get such nice puns in the papers!"
"Those reasons may suffice for the rest of the world, but they don't for me!"

Two hours later he stood in his own front hall, turning his pockets inside out by the light of the midnight oil, then he searched the front steps and examined the pavements outside, and finally patrolled a certain street to a certain house till a certain small hour of the morning, when he returned to his abode uttering unholy words.
"What are you looking for?" she demanded on entering the drawing room the next morning.

"Nothing," he answered, rising hastily from an evident inspection of the carpet. His face was pale, and his searching eye roamed uneasily over the furniture.
"I thought you might have dropped something!" she suggested, casually.
"Oh, no!" he responded defiantly.

"Well, what did you think of it?" she inquired.
"Oh!" he said with a start. "That story of yours? It was great—really absorbing! I assure you it kept me awake until four o'clock this morning!"

"And yet it is comparatively short. You must read very slowly! Do tell me what you like best about it."
"Oh, well," he floundered; "I liked it all immensely, but what appealed to me especially was that—er—scene where the heroine—er—gets the best of it."

He felt that he was doing well, but at this point she brought him back to earth.

"Do you think," she asked him, earnest and wide-eyed, "that Gregory ought to have done it?"

"Who?" she asked, staggered for a moment. "What?" And then recollecting himself—"Yes." This stoutly. "I think Gregory was perfectly justified; I don't see how, under the circumstances, he could have done otherwise. I am quite certain that in his place I should have done just the same thing."
"What thing?" she asked, as she poked the fire with her back turned. Then, as he did not answer immediately, she said gently: "I don't think you quite understand what scene I referred to, but I'll show you in a moment if you'll just hand me the MS."
"The MS.?" she queried, blankly.
"The MS.," she repeated determinedly.

He took two turns up and down the room, then faced her, crimson and crestfallen.

"I'm extremely sorry to tell you," he said hoarsely, "that your MS. is—the arctic blue of her eyes froze the truth upon his lips—is left behind." He finished. "I hope you don't need it immediately!"

"No—no," she admitted; "not to-day, but I really must dispatch it to the publishers to-morrow."
"All right," he said. "I'll call in the morning!"

"With the MS.?" she asked him, smilingly.

"With the MS.," he echoed, despairingly.

And as he went out of the house he held a brief ineffectual conversation with the butler, punctuated with a five-dollar bill, and then paced the street for many hours—a prey to thoughts of forgery and flight.

It was the next morning and he had been talking volubly and long on different subjects when she at length managed to get in a word.

"Well," she asked, "have you got it?"

"What?" he answered quickly. The meaning? Not! Although you seemed to think so, judging from the way in which you avoided me at the reception last night, and again at the opera afterward. You wouldn't give me so much as a bow."

"I didn't see you," she told him.

"Where—where was I?" he interrupted to explain. "In the dress circle, on the opposite side, with my glasses leveled on your box."

"That was a waste of time," she said impatiently, "and so is this. What is the use hiding the truth any longer? Why will you not acknowledge that you've lost my MS.?"

"Because I haven't!" he answered doggedly. "Not!" (As she stared at him in amazement.) "If that MS. has disappeared, vanished irreparably, you are responsible, and you alone!"

He strode to the door, then wheeling round, faced her.

"If I forgot your story," he said harshly, "it was because I was thinking only of you. If I was absent-minded, it was because you were present. If I—er—lost that MS., it was because, well! I suppose you know it—I had already lost my heart. That's all, Good-by!"

And he turned to go. But she was already at his elbow, and there was something in her hand—a typewritten parcel—a MS.

"It has been a pretty bad quarter of an hour, hasn't it?" she asked him, and her eyes were twinkling—"thanks to your stories and mine. But you're not going yet?" (For he was turning to the door knob.) "It isn't late, and besides—"

Here she looked up at him, and—ah, well!—The clock ticked loudly and the fire crackled.—Valley Weekly.

SOME INTERESTING SECRETS OF THE TRADE.

Maker of These Valuable Adjuncts to Locomotion Gives Some Particulars as to Their Manufacture.

"Oh, yes, indeed, they come pretty high," said the artificial leg maker. "It is a beauty, though, isn't it. I venture to say there isn't another one in Philadelphia like it, on or off, and it's as light as a feather, too."

With these words, says the Shoe Retailer, the creator of artificial limbs flourished a leg in the air. He was fat and smiling, and he spoke with an indistinguishable foreign accent, and every once in awhile his face beamed with enthusiasm.

"They all come to Philadelphia for them, too," he continued. "We've customers from all over Europe, Asia and Africa. There are lots of leg makers in the city—at least they call themselves such, but some of them are not leg makers at all; they're harness makers."

The august Philadelphia leg maker, purveyor to kings, queens and government officials, took a little time to show the specimens around the room. They were fat and thin, long and short, graceful and otherwise. Some of them were huddled in corners, accumulating the dust of ages; others hung aloft on racks, so light and airy that they were wafted to and fro in the breeze.

"You see," continued the leg maker, "we know how to do things now. We've got the secret all right. First they chop down the willow tree; then we cut out the legs. It takes a heap of flexible leather to put the tendons in the right place. See that spring in the ankle? That's made by the leather tendons. If you saw one on a man you could not tell the difference. Then the whole thing is covered over with fine pink enamel. Looks natural enough, don't it?" At this juncture a rap came at the door, and a big man, six feet four, weighing nearly 300 pounds, entered. He looked smilingly complaisant as he lighted a cigarette and shook hands with the leg maker.

"Can you rush an order for me, double quick?" he asked. "I've come through a tough fight," he went on. "You know I always travel with a bunch of legs and coming up this way from New Orleans, the Pullman car was burned and all four of my legs were lost. I only saved the one I had on, and now you've got to get me work to make another set for me, double quick." With an air of languor and ease the big man stood to have himself measured.

"Do you know who he is?" questioned he of the leg trade, after the ponderous man had gone. "Well, he is the son of one of the richest women in the United States. He lost his leg through disease, and he always comes to Philadelphia to have his sets made. Plain, ordinary boxes do for most people to cart their legs around in, but he's got fine leather cases with his name engraved upon them."

"Do many of them go in on such a wholesale plan?" was queried of the leg maker.

"Heaps of them," he replied, laconically. "Some of them can do anything with 'em. There's one young man in this city who belongs to a glee club and they tell me he's the best dancer of Irish jigs in the town. He was a good dancer before he lost his leg, and he's all right yet. No; we have no lady attendants. We ought to have, though. What's the reason? Oh, because there is not one woman in Philadelphia that I can find who knows the trade. Pity, too, because there's money in it. A good leg maker ought to make at least $25 per week."

"There are six or seven men in public life, well known, who wear artificial limbs. None but their intimate friends and families know it, however. One young lady in Philadelphia who led a number of dances last winter has an artificial leg. It is easy to walk with one after you learn how to use them."

"Oh, yes, artificial leg making is the thing for me," concluded the leg maker. "I started out as a fine carpenter, doing up banks and public buildings, and one day I went into a place in New York to order an artificial limb for a friend in distress. The maker was a doctor, strange to say. He sized me up and I sized him up, and in a short time I was under contract to work for him. They can't steal our patents, either, for it's as hard to make an artificial limb without years of learning as it would be for some unicorn maker to produce a Stradivarius."

The Emir's Capital.

It is reported that the emir of Afghanistan contemplates the removal of his capital to a more northern site. Owing to the energetic way in which the present emir and his immediate predecessor have been manufacturing guns and machinery the country around Kabul has been denuded to such an extent that fuel is now unobtainable. So great are the straits to which the emir is reduced by the want of wood that it is imperative that a new site should be obtained, and this will probably be found in the wooded slopes of the mountains farther north.

WINTHROP TO BE GOVERNOR

TO SUCCEED SECRETARY TAFT
IN CUBA.—PRESIDENT
CHANGES MIND.

Reported 2,000 Rebels in Vicinity of Guantanamo Refuse to Disarm.

Washington, Oct. 3.—After a talk at the White House with Gov. Magoon today the president reconsidered
the plan he had formed last evening of sending the judge to Cuba as civil governor and decided that in view of the fact that Secretary Taft had already taken up the subject with Beckman Winthrop, the present governor of Porto Rico, he would not interfere with the program. Consequently Mr. Winthrop will be provisional governor of Cuba, and Judge Magoon, after a short vacation to this country, will, as originally planned, go to the Philippines as vice governor and member of the Philippines commission.

REFUSE TO DISARM.

Situation at Guantanamo Described as Critical.

Santiago, Cuba, October 3.—It is reported that 2,000 rebels in the vicinity of Guantanamo have refused to disarm. The situation here is still serious. The revolutionists continue to concentrate around Santiago.
They promise to disarm if Gen. Del
Castillo orders them to do so. Del Castillo has not arrived, but is expected now at any time.

Officers from the cruiser Des Moines unofficially witnessed a spectacular review of the insurgents yesterday. The naval men were enthusiastically cheered when they were recognized. Good order prevails here.

PROCEEDING QUIETLY.

Disarming of Rebels in Immediate Vicinity of Havana.

Havana, Oct. 3.—The disarming of the rebels in the immediate vicinity of Havana began today without opposition. Many began today without position. Many of them were allowed to keep arms which they claimed were their personal property. Several trains during the day will convey the disbanded troops homeward. No trouble is reported to have occurred in many parts of the island.

Preparations are being made at the palace for the reception of Gov. Taft, who will establish his office there this afternoon.

Mr. Clarence Bennett has returned from Fulton where he was called by the death of his father-in-law, Mr.
G. H. Bransford.

RUSSIA FINDS GLASS HOUSE

Says Atlanta Riots Should Stop American Stonethrowing.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 3.—Several newspapers have published editorial articles on the anti-Jewish massacres in Russia. The Novoe Vremya expresses the hope that the United States now will cease to attribute the Russian excesses to official provocation instead of admitting that they are the result of natural racial antimosity.

But He Will Feel Much Safer.
(Los Angeles Times.)

It is extremely doubtful that the czar will make a success of the attempt to rule his country while living abroad.

Hard Luck.

He came to borrow "five," and I
Was out. It's just a sin!
I wouldn't have been out if I
Had only not been in!

—Pick-Me-Up.

Words.

"A word to the wise is sufficient,"
The familiar proverb saith,
But wisdom too often is wordy
And tries to talk you to death.

NEARLY A RACE RIOT

the shots rang out there was a stampede on the part of the crowd for shelter. The mob was widely scattered, and in a few seconds Alderman Lyons, who had been on the inside of the jail, came out and holding up his hand, from which the blood was streaming, announced that he had been shot, and that Roy Hoyle had received a bullet through the left lung.

The crowd later received information that Robinson had been taken from the city to Eight Mile Point, on the Mobile and Ohio road, where he was to be placed upon the train and carried still farther. As soon as this was known fully 300 men boarded the Mobile and Ohio passenger train leaving here at 8:25 o'clock p. m. with the expressed intention of lynching the negro if they could get him.

Shortly after 10 o'clock tonight a second mob gathered in the business section of the city and went to the jail, convinced that Robinson was in there, and expressing themselves as bound to have him at any cost. Sheriff Powers declared to this crowd, as he had to the first one, that Robinson was not in the jail and had not been there. The mob finally dispersed.

The temper of the citizens of Mobile regarding the crime of Robinson was shown tonight by the fact that before the conclusion of the performance at the Mobile Theater, the leading playhouse of the city, a crowd of 200 men had gathered in front of the place, determined to attack the negroes in the theater as they came out. Nothing was done, but it would have required only the slightest altercation between a white and a colored man to have produced serious trouble.

TO BIRMINGHAM FOR SAFE KEEPING

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 3.—The deputy sheriffs from Mobile reached Birmingham early today, having in charge Cornelius Robinson, the negro youth who is alleged to have assaulted Ruth Sossaman, a twelve-year-old girl, near that city last afternoon, and because of which crime a mob attempted to storm the Mobile jail last night two men being shot. Robinson was placed in the Jefferson county jail for safe keeping. He denies his guilt, but was identified by his victim.

The officers say that after the arrest and identification of Robinson
he was rushed to the Mobile jail, but kept there only long enough to secure a team, when he was driven to Gary's station, on the Southern railway, a few miles out, where a train to Birmingham was caught at 6:30 o'clock last evening. Robinson was not in the Mobile jail when the mob gathered.

NASHVILLE MAY BECOME DARK TOBACCO MARKET

Effort Being Made to Establish Warehouses in That City.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 3.—There is a movement on foot, backed by the Nashville Board of Trade, to re-establish Nashville as a dark tobacco market. Much encouragement has been received from the officials of the Planters' Protective Association, who say that there will be no trouble to establish a market here if a suitable and well-managed warehouse is constructed for the handling of the association tobacco. There is a considerable amount of tobacco shipped through Nashville to Clarksville and other markets, and it is proposed to get the advantage of this portion of the crop, as well as others, by affording the farmers advantages here, and thus re-establish what was once a prosperous tobacco market in this city.

section.
